The first of 26 Bombardier-made Light Rail Vehicles arrived by train this week, and the city insists that the other 25, to be delivered by 2020, will be on time and on budget.

Although the Quebec-based transportation company has a reputation for cost overruns and delays in municipalities like Waterloo Region and Toronto, the first LRV for the Valley Line Southeast LRT is ready for its public debut at the Bonnie Doon Mall on Friday, and the city is "very confident in (Bombardier's) ability to deliver," said Dean Heuman, stakeholder relations manager with TransEd.

"The fact that this (LRV) is arriving on time just proves that
